Microchip Technology Inc. Analyst Notes

On March 4, 2014, Microchip Technology Inc. (Microchip) reported that it has been recognized by 11 global electronic industry publications for the product innovation and technology leadership of its patented GestIC® technology. Microchip stated that the GestIC® technology allows the next dimension in intuitive, gesture-based, non-contact user interfaces for a broad range of end products. The Company informed that MGC3130, the world's first electrical-field (E-field)-based 3D gesture controller that utilizes GestIC technology to provide low-power, precise, fast and robust hand position tracking with free-space gesture recognition, has won five awards in the Americas, three in Asia, and three in Europe. "The sheer number of awards that we've won is a testament to our GestIC technology's ability to enable new and innovative user-interface capabilities in a broad range of products," said Fanie Duvenhage, Director of Microchip's Human Machine Interface Division. "Our MGC3130 controller represents a gigantic leap forward in 3D, touchless gesture-interface technology, in terms of cost, performance and power consumption." Ambarella Inc. Analyst Notes

On March 6, 2014, Ambarella Inc. (Ambarella) released its Q4 FY 2014 and FY 2014 financial results (period ended January 31, 2014). Total revenues for Q4 FY 2014 increased 26.8% YoY to $40.0 million, and total revenues in FY 2014 increased 30.2% YoY to $157.6 million. Ambarella's Q4 FY 2014 net income was $5.5 million or $0.18 per diluted share, versus $3.6 million or $0.13 per diluted share in Q4 FY 2013. Net income stood at $25.7 million or $0.85 per diluted share in FY 2014, versus $18.2 million or $0.60 per diluted share in FY 2013. Commenting on the results, Fermi Wang, President and CEO of Fermi Wang, stated, "We are very pleased with our fourth quarter and fiscal year 2014 financial results. During the fourth quarter we had revenue of $40M, up 26.8% from the same period last year. Our revenue for the whole fiscal year was up 30.2% from last year, while revenue from IP-security cameras more than doubled. In Q4 we introduced innovative surround-view solutions for the automotive market and collaborated with Google to explore new opportunities in wearable cameras. We look forward to driving continued innovation in the year ahead." The full analyst notes on Ambarella Inc. are available to download free of charge at:

Spansion Inc. Analyst Notes

On March 11, 2014, Spansion Inc. (Spansion) reported that the United States District Court of Virginia has ruled two decisions in the Company's favor. The Company informed that the first court order dismissed the case filed by Macronix against Spansion, stating that Macronix's allegations have failed to state a valid case for patent infringement. The Company added that in the second order, the court held that, if Macronix files another complaint, the case will be transferred to the U.S. District Court of the Northern District of California, which could take more than a year for a decision. Ali Poukeramati, Senior Vice President of Spansion, said, "We are pleased with the Court's decision, which confirms that Macronix's complaint failed to demonstrate infringement, and should provide relief to our customers. Since this is the second time that the court in Virginia has dismissed Macronix's complaint against Spansion for this exact same reason, it is obvious that Macronix filed this case only to deflect attention from the suit filed by Spansion against Macronix with the International Trade Commission (ITC)."
